

Mills Oakley partner named Health Partner of the Year

4 August, 2022

Mills Oakley partner Dr Teresa Nicoletti has been named Health Partner of the Year at the 2022 Lawyers Weekly Partner of the Year Awards.

This is the third time Teresa has taken out the award, which recognises legal excellence in the health sector as well as leadership skill, advocacy work and practice development. The win recognises Teresa's market-leading expertise in the health and life sciences sector, particularly in the regulation of therapeutic goods and ongoing advocacy work in regulatory reform and significant contributions towards the advancement of healthcare.

Commenting on the win, Mills Oakley CEO John Nerurker said:

"This award consolidates Teresa's status as Australia's leading health practitioner. We are tremendously proud to have a three-time winner of this prestigious award at our firm. This year's win is all the more special given the challenges presented by COVID-19 to the practice of law over the past year."

The 2022 Awards were again keenly contested, with 406 candidates making submissions and 33 winners announced by a 20-person judging panel at a ceremony held at The Star in Sydney last Thursday.
